

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image processing apparatus which converts received drawing commands into intermediate lists expressed by simple commands, and stores the lists, and which creates a page image from the intermediate lists, includes a polygon dividing means and a trapezoid dividing means so as to holds intermediate lists for shapes of the polygon and the trapezoids, thereby it is possible to reduce the volume of the intermediate lists.